

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Architectural Design Group, PLLC (ADG) is a Minnesota-licensed, veteran-owned architecture practice founded in 2020 by Jonathan Huffmaster, AIA. ADG was built on a single conviction: every client — regardless of budget — deserves buildings that actively support the health, productivity, and wellbeing of every occupant. Jon brings 13+ years of multi-sector project experience from Wold Architects & Engineers, Pope Architects, and MSR Design, spanning education, civic, healthcare, commercial, and residential typologies across Minnesota, Wisconsin, and beyond. As a U.S. Army National Guard Engineer (2011–2017), Jon developed the mission-first discipline and decisive leadership that now defines every ADG engagement. Clients receive direct principal access on every project — Jon leads from programming through construction administration, with no hand-offs and no delegation of design authority to junior staff. ADG's practice is grounded in the International Living Future Institute's Living Building Challenge and in rigorous toxin-free material specification — selecting products verified to be free of the 800+ base chemicals on the Living Future Institute's Red List of worst-in-class building materials. This commitment to occupant health is integrated from project kickoff, not added at closeout as a last-minute upgrade.
